

MX LogicSM Message Continuity

55% of all companies will experience an email outage greater than four times annually.

INDUSTRY REPORTS

49% of network downtime is caused by human error.

IEEE COMPUTER

Business doesn't stop when your email network is down. Whether the network is inaccessible due to natural disasters, power outages, or even regular maintenance, businesses that rely on email to communicate with customers, partners, suppliers – and from employee to employee – need an easy and efficient solution for keeping the lines of communication open 24x7.

MX LogicSM Message Continuity is a comprehensive managed disaster recovery service that enables Web-based email access, management and use during planned or unplanned outages. The service retains all inbound and outbound mail sent or received during the outage, and intelligently synchronizes an accurate record of all outage-period message activity with the business email server(s).
